

CLINICAL CONTENT ANALYST

AdMed is currently seeking a Clinical Content Analyst in our (New Hope/Philadelphia) office.

POSITION SUMMARY

AdMed is seeking a Clinical Content Analyst to create medical training products and ensure medical accuracy.

JOB REQUIREMENTS

The following requirements are representative of the knowledge, skill, and/or ability required to perform this job. Reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions.

- A passion for simplifying complex science for the broader public
- Ability to accurately review complex materials, including texts, graphics, audio, and videos, with excellent attention to detail
- Ability to work in a fast-paced, deadline-oriented environment; good organizational, multitasking, and prioritizing skills
- Excellent team player
- Strong verbal and written communication skills
- Proficiency with MS Office Suite and Adobe Acrobat

BENEFICIAL SKILLS

- Background in science, medicine, or pharmaceuticals
- Instructional design and/or experience writing training materials is a big plus

JOB RESPONSIBILITIES

- Working closely with Content, Production, and Account Management teams
- Assist in creating artificial intelligence
- Managing multiple projects at a time and allocating time according to job priority
- Create accompanying training products, such as workbooks, virtual classrooms, visual summaries, assessment questions, and more
- Ensure medical accuracy of products by fact-checking and assisting in reference organization

EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

- Bachelor's degree in Biology, Chemistry, or a related field

If you're interested in this position, let us know. We'd love to meet you!
Please send your resume and cover letter to jobs@admedinc.com